Thanks Tim. It's great when teammates can work so tightly together.

Mike –

Wanted to share an "Atta Boy" we got from the client earlier today.

Remember +/- 2 weeks ago when you brought Jim Barr down to my office for technical assistance with Access? I was able to help resolve Jim's Access problem, and wanted you to know that Jim returned the favor tenfold.

Jim generated a VB script that saved the 8th Floor over 4 months in labor, the client was notified this afternoon that completed files are ready well ahead of schedule, and the client responded by characterizing performance on this project as "amazing".

Tim

PS: It appears we need to add "Technical collaboration with ADMIN" as a new line item in PlanView.

Hi Michele –

Happy to report that as of this afternoon, all 49,532 Quattro Pro (QPW) files have been converted to XLS ... 4 months ahead of schedule (had this process been performed manually). ;-]

Note that converted 49,532 files include 4,570 files that Jim Barr's VB Script could NOT convert. These 4,570 files I converted manually, with +/- 90% of the 4,570 files converting without error messages. Of the +/- 10% that did generate errors, I notified Michele of the types of errors I encountered, followed Michele's conversion instructions for these files, and will include the Error Log (which identifies types of errors encountered) when the 49,532 XLS files are delivered.

In terms of Quality Control check, I will rely on your office to notify me of any systemic conversion errors with delivered XLS files that you discover, and (where time permits), will assist your office in developing + implementing solutions to fix these conversion errors.

In terms of delivery, transferring all files to you via DVD (as originally planned) won't work well. Let's meet tomorrow afternoon or FRI to discuss file delivery options.

Tim

Patricia,
I just wanted you to know that Tim has done a great job for us, from initially figuring out what we really needed – not an excel spread sheet but a real tracking tool, and then executing on his plan in a timely and very responsive manner. I have told him how much I appreciate his work for us, but thought you should know as well. Thanks for making Tim available to us.

Hi Marie –

I installed a working prototype on Judith's workstation this morning. Judith instructed me to contact you to schedule a time to install a working prototype on your workstation too.

Judith also requested a "Screenshot Tutorial" for circulation to other staff members working on this project, to familiarize them with program's functions + capabilities. A 16-page PDF file is attached for this purpose: the last page outlines roadmap for moving program from prototype to production.

This project has become more complex than originally anticipated, but it delivers tracking precision unobtainable using Excel. Building out pushbutton reports will be the final phase of development, which I anticipate will begin sometime in the Summer.

If anyone has any questions, comments or suggestions, let me know.

Tim Rolf

Hi Michele –

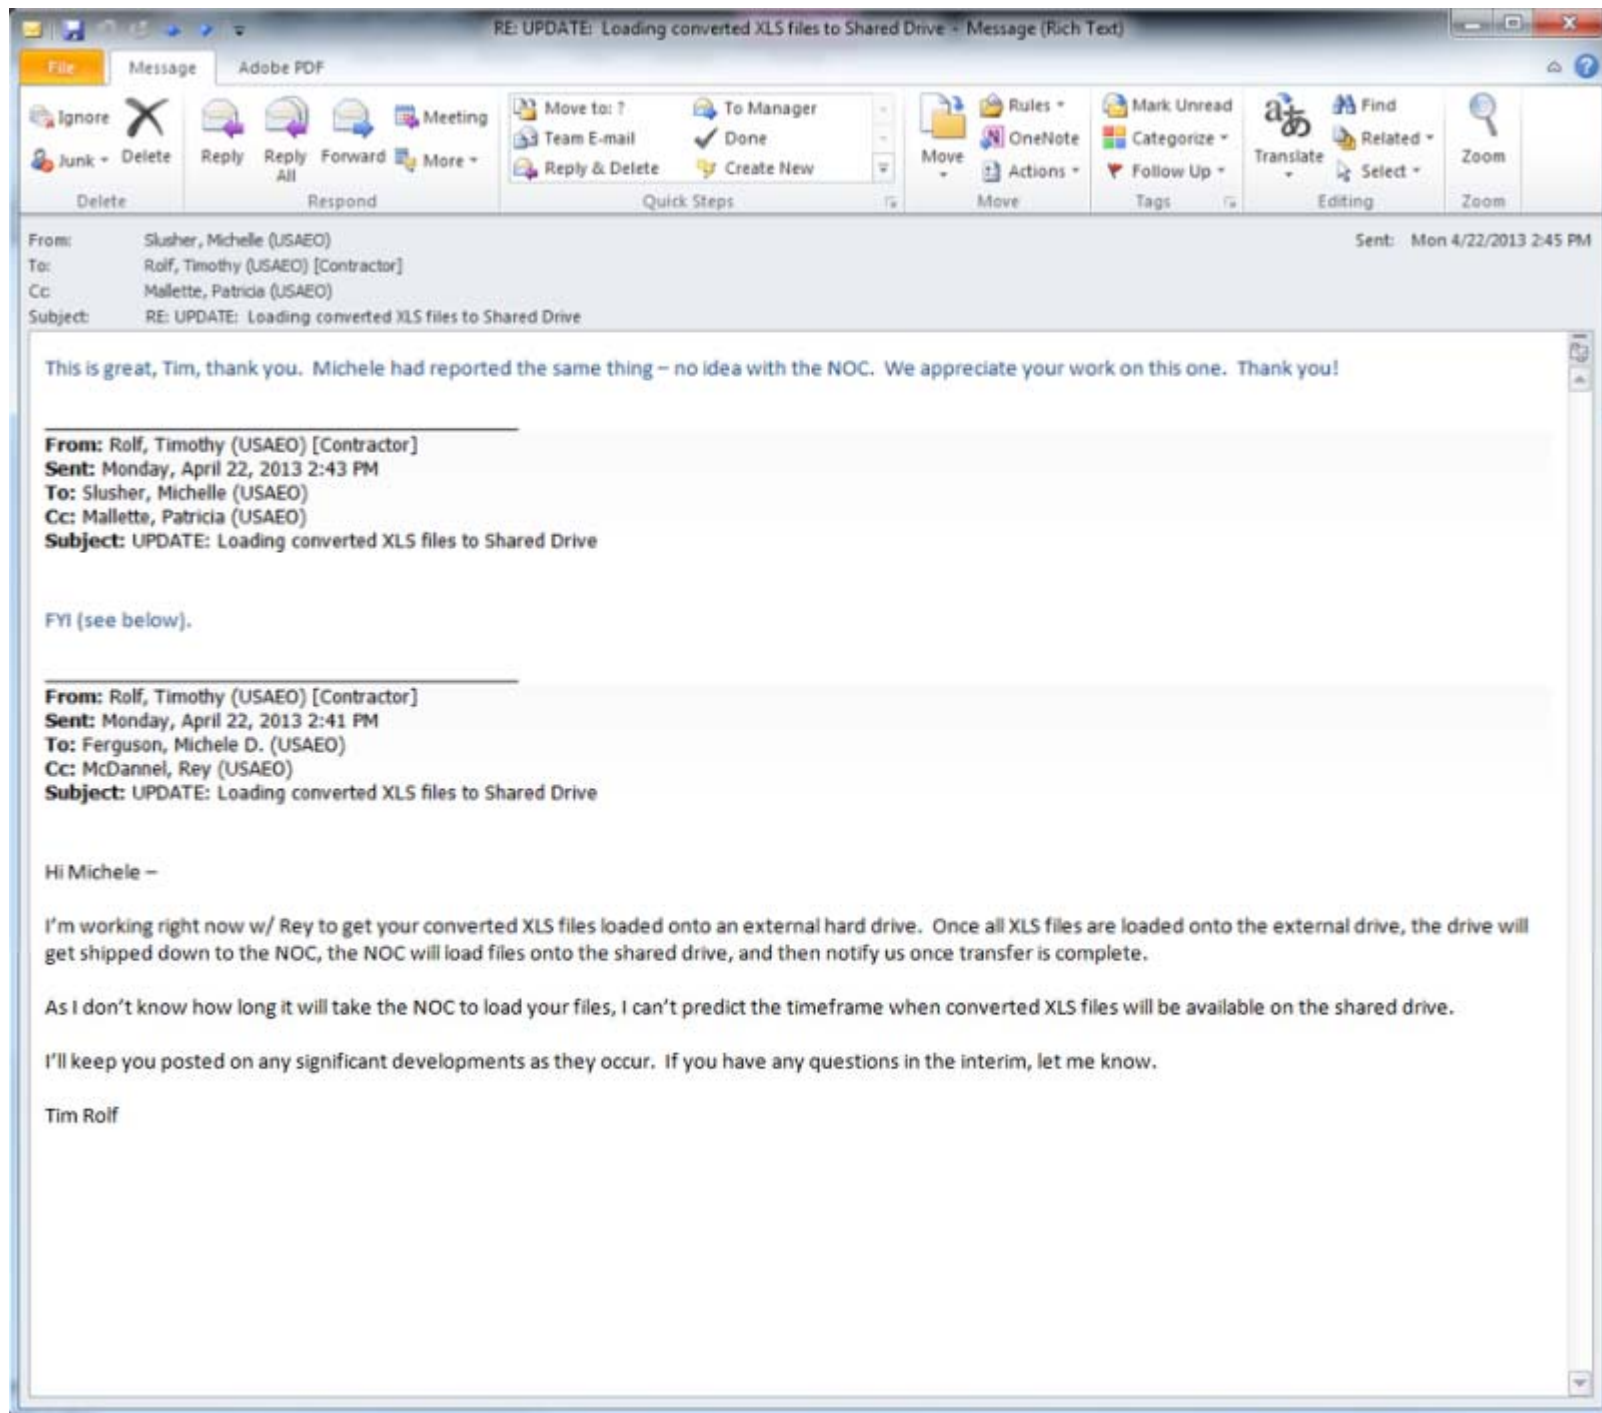

All files except 37 successfully converted.

The .XLSM file located in folder "S:\CMSDA\Ad_Hoc\QPWtoExcel\CMSDA" contains the names of 37 files that you'll have to manually convert ... but 37 sure beats 3,000!

Hats off to Jim Barr ... I couldn't have done this without his help.

Many of you know that Tim Rolf, a contractor on Admin's staff can create data management tools for use at EOUSA. He has just completed two projects for RMP, and before I assign a new project to him, I wanted to go out to Senior Staff and see if any of you have new projects you would like him to do. Please let me know.
